Nix injunction plea

Secret meet on security

Redistrict, but not now

On the heels of its first secret session in some two years, the board of supervisors Monday first unanimously went on record in favor of redistricting "but not at this time" and then voted 4-1 to request entering the taxpayers' suit pending in Chancery Court aimed at re-apportionment of Hancock County this year.

Beat 2 Supervisor I. M. Frierson brought up the redistricting case as soon as representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration left the room at the conclusion of a confab on some of their security problems at the Mississippi Test Operations.

Frierson, whose supervisory district will be reduced to two and one half sections of habitable land after NASA completes its buffer zone acquisition next year, moved to express favor of redistricting but to withhold action until the impact the NASA on the county is determined. H. G. Dean of Beat 1 seconded and the vote was 5-0.

A hectic half-hour harangue ensued during which Dean moved, seconded by Charles Lavinghouse of Beat 3, that the supervisors seek to enter the redistricting case on the basis suggested by Lucien M. Cox, attorney for the board.

R. G. Hubbard, Jr., Beat 5 supervisor and president of the board, cast the lone dissenting vote as James D. Neelisse of

A temporary injunction sought to secure prompt redistricting of Hancock County was denied Wednesday afternoon by 8th District Chancellor William G. Hewes although he and opponents of the remedy requested all admitted inequalities exist.

He held that adequate remedy at law exists under Section 2870 of the Mississippi Code of 1942. That provides that 25 per cent of the qualified electors may petition the board of supervisors to redistrict the county, setting forth the meets and bounds of the proposed district. Whereupon the supervisors must call for a referendum within 30 to 60 days. If 51 per cent of all qualified electors approve the proposed redistricting, it must be put in effect by the next Jan. 1.

If the supervisors fail to do so, the petitioners can seek a mandamus to compel compliance, Chancellor Hewes noted.

Redistricting, he declared, is essentially a legislative function and redistricting of a county is vastly different from that procedure for a state. The chancellor added that "too many judges particularly in the federal appellate courts" take personal rather than judicial discretion in ruling on matters.

He said he did not decide on any constitutional issues unless they were necessary to decide the case and upon inquiry from Upton Sisson, counsel for the complainants, declared he was not ruling on applicability of the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution in this matter.

The ruling came after a 15-minute recess of the conclusion of hearing pleadings and upheld the general demurrer entered by J. Norton Haas, newly appointed member of the county election commission, who was represented by Joel Blass, Wiggins lawyer. Haas was appointed by Secretary of State Heber Laddner to succeed Johnson Shaw who resigned Feb. 15 from the election commission.

The other two commissioners, Chairman Dan M. Russell, Jr., and J. Roland Weston, admitted to the bulk of the allegations of the bill of complaint and requested the Chancery Court to rule whether constitutional and statutory provisions set forth mandatorily require the board of supervisors to re-district from time to time. On several items they neither admitted nor denied the allegations. They called for strict proof of the allegations in Exhibit A dealing with the 1960 federal Census, number of qualified electors by beat and property assessments. In conclusion their answer declared: "Defendants neither admit nor deny that complainants are entitled to relief prayed for, but request direction of this Honorable Court."

The answer was presented by Sam J. Favre, Jr., representing Russell and Weston.

Lucien M. Cox, attorney for the board of supervisors, with Blass as an associate in the matter presented the supervisors' request to enter the case as amicus curiae. He argued that the election commissioners were not the real parties in the suit, that redistricting should not be undertaken until the population evolving from the NASA project is permanently located and that the board has given intention of doing so at that time. He further contended that the election commission has no control over the primary election and an injunction would be unfair to the established political parties in the county. In addition to confusion over the supervisors, justices of the peace and constables also are elected by supervisory district, he added.

Sisson opposed the amicus curiae effort as a motion to intervene, a demurrer, an answer and a brief arguing the case. He cited decisions of the U. S. (Cont. on Page 6.)

Petitions started to redistrict

Hardly had Chancellor William G. Hewes finished his ruling sustaining the demurrer to the suit Powell Glass, Jr., et al vs. Hancock County Election Commission than other efforts were being initiated to redistrict the county under Sec. 2870 of the Code of Mississippi of 1942, which he ruled was an adequate remedy at law.

Meanwhile, Glass, one of the original complainants in the suit, said an appeal from the chancellor's ruling would be taken to the Supreme Court of Mississippi.

At least one of the redistricting plans for county being considered by those following the petition course, the Echo was told, would find Supervisors I. M. Frierson, James Neelisse and Charles Lavinghouse all living in the same district if adopted.

FUTURE OF 437 - Outlining reasons for the proposed relocation of State Rt. 43 before the board of supervisors Monday is Joe Wardlaw of the Corps of Engineers, left, and John Wilson, of the corps' legal staff. Supervisors gather around to hear.

Board asked for road proposals in test site

Proposals for relocation of necessary county roads in the MTO fee area were solicited from the board of supervisors by J. G. Wardlaw, engineer for the Corps of Engineers, and John Wilson, member of the legal staff, at a conference on road problems Monday morning. Wardlaw asked the board to give the matter study and his group will consider their requests under law to see what can be done. It was emphasized replacement will only be as determined necessary.

The two appeared along with J. F. Brownlee of the State Highway Department to discuss mainly the relocation of State Rt. 43 and it appeared certain that new road will be built in a wide arc east from Picaune to connect with Rt. 603 in the vicinity of Kiln.

Wardlaw explained the reservation once considered on the Ca-

News Briefs

ASK REDISTRICT

Bay St. Louis Jaycees at a general membership meeting last Thursday voted to ask the board of supervisors to redistrict the county following lengthy discussion of a report on the matter by Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., political action chairman. They also agreed to join the Rotary Club in building a fence between de Montuzin Drug and Bressler's as a part of the city beautification project.

NEW DOCTOR DUE

Dr. John B. Levens, county health officer since last fall, this week resigned that post effective March 15 to enter general medical practice in Waveland. The board of supervisors accepted the resignation and suggested the State Health Department try to find a retired physician for the post in the future, noting the high turnover among young doctors.

WOMEN TO MEET

Women of Christ Episcopal Church, Chapter 1, will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Nicholson Avenue home of Mrs. R. A. Steinmeyer. Mrs. B. P. Cecil is to be co-hostess.

COMMUNION AND BREAKFAST

Knights of Columbus will have a father-son communion at 7 a.m. mass Sunday at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, followed by breakfast at the KC Hall.

VFW TO NOMINATE

Officers for 1963-64 will be nominated when Hancock County Post 325, Veterans of Foreign Wars meets at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Legion Home.

UPS SAID SUCCESS

Community Protestant inspirational services led by Rev. Lane Adams of Miami, Fla., at 1st Baptist Church last week drew an estimated attendance of between 1,700 and 1,800 at the five evening and four morning sessions and some 200 persons responded to the call, indicating their decision to join the church.

TWO DIVORCES

Two divorce decrees were entered during the week by Chancellor William G. Hewes as follows: Walter F. Davis vs. Lenora Davis, and Gloria Gardiner vs. Ted Gardiner.

POSTPONE TOURNEY

March 6 is the deadline to enter the third annual independent cage tournament of St. Stanislaus Sidelines Club which has been postponed until March 11-16, Brother Dorian, athletic director announces.

AIRMAN AND MRS. WALTER LEWIS GIBBONS, JR.

Miss Kimmel weds airman

Miss Gloria Jean Kimmel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kimmel, Jr., of Bay St. Louis, became the bride of Airman Second Class Walter Lewis Gibbons, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons of Buffalo, N. Y., at 2 p.m. Feb. 17, at St. Joseph Chapel on Danbar Avenue. Mr. James J. Hannon heard the vows of the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Kimmel gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Darlene Netto was maid of honor and Airman Second Class Gary Frings, who is stationed at Keesler Field, served as best man. Following a reception at the Leonard Avenue home of the bride's parents, the young couple left for a honeymoon in New Orleans. They went to Buffalo

Dr. Hava tells hardy types of camellias

Hardy camellias and the trend to hot houses were discussed by Dr. Walter Hava in a talk to Bay-Waveland Garden Club at its meeting Feb. 14. Among varieties he recommended to withstand colder weather as well as the hot summers were the Mibata, Margaret Jack, Winifred Womack and Governor Mouton. For those planning to put their camellias in hot houses next winter in anticipation of more freezing weather he urged potting the plants at a n early date. Additional plans for the spring pilgrimage here next month were outlined by Mrs. Ruth Woods Luderbach, chairman, who also reported on beautification efforts.

Mrs. Dan M. Russell, Jr., demonstrated arrangements with-out natural material in event of another freeze while Mrs. Herbert Finley gave spring garden-ing tips. Mrs. W. R. Gordon was hostess for the tea later. Mrs. Paul Miller and Mrs. Russell were commended for their showing at the Ozone Camellia Show in which the former was runner-up for tri-color honors and the latter won a number of red ribbons. Mrs. Hilma Ogden presided.

Lakeshore gardeners welcome 2

Mrs. Charles Hayes and Mrs. Irene Vogt Craft were welcomed as new members at the February meeting of the Lakeshore Garden Club Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lionel Bordages. Mrs. Will Bordages was co-hostess.

Mrs. C. R. Rasmussen conducted the business session. The Retarded Children's School was selected as project of the year. The annual check for May Rust Memorial Fund was mailed to the Heart Fund Drive.

It was announced that Mrs. Heman Mazarakis had been awarded the Garden of the Month plaque.

Judging of arrangements followed. Ribbons were won in the following classes by Mrs. Russell Elliott, cultivated; Mrs. Will Bordages, dried; Mrs. E. P. Orte, horticultural; Mrs. Donald Dorn, potted, and Mrs. Har-ard Burleigh, miniature.

Mrs. Butz to head Town and Country Club

Mrs. A. J. Butz was elected president of Town and Country Garden Club at its February meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. McNamara on Bay Oaks Drive. Mrs. Edward LeVasseur was chosen vice president with Mrs. Cleon Phelps and recording secretary and Mrs. S. K. Kepner, treasurer.

They will be installed at the March meeting when the club also will celebrate its 13th birth-day.

Mrs. McNamara and Mrs. Phelps spoke on the culture of crepe myrtle and landscaping of gardens, emphasizing planning green yards and replacement of frozen shrubbery.

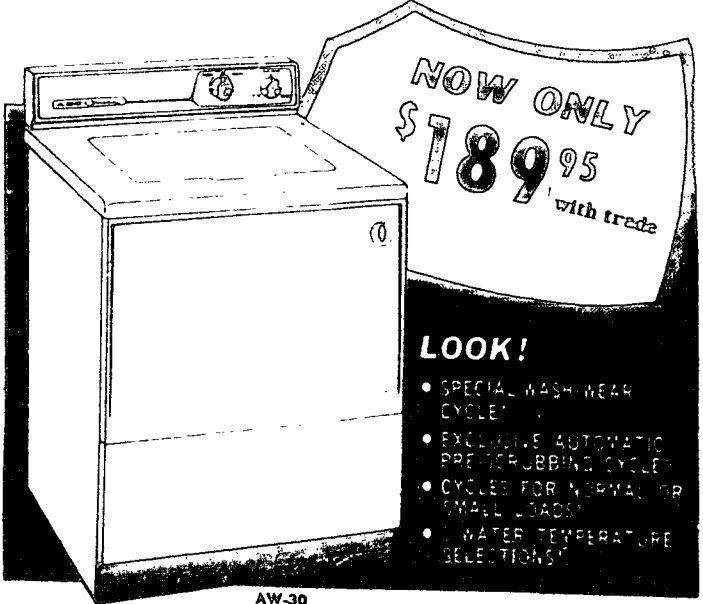

Town and County Club will be co-hostess with Bay-Waveland Garden Club for the spring pilgrimage here March 21 and is participating in the anti-litter campaign being stressed in towns to be visited by the pil-grims.

DAIRY MEETING
A dairy meeting supervised by George Crane, leader in dairy extension work, will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Hancock North Central School.

You couldn't buy a better Steak! Than a W-D Brand Beef Steak

Ever stop to think what an ounce of fat or bone is worth when it comes to buying BEEF? Even conservatively you can figure at an approximate 5c per ounce. That's why it is most important that you judge a cut of BEEF not by the price tag but by how much GOOD BEEF you get for your money! Winn-Dixie's trimming policy guarantees you the closest trimmed BEEF in town—and if you were to allow 5 cents an ounce for waste, you'd save at least 10 cents per pound or more on every Winn-Dixie BEEF purchase. Spring and the fact that it shows little promise of an early arrival seems to be uppermost in the minds of just about everyone—according to the weather bureau we've now had a total of 18 days when the mercury dipped beneath the freezing point, and to put it ungrammatically, it just 'ain't' right. About the only signs pointing to better things to come are red-bud trees putting forth the beginnings of colorful blossoms, narcissus and buttercups and almost an additional hour of daylight. We realize resenting continued frigid blasts isn't doing a darn bit of good but had to restrain ourselves from tossing an ashtray through the TV screen one night last week when an especially smug weather reporter summed up his forecast predicting a high of 38 degrees, northerly winds up to 30 mph and only a little rain or sleet, then saying—really a very nice day to look forward to! Nice—yeah—may be for an Eskimo!

A well-kept secret

The identities of this year's king and queen of St. Joseph Carnival Ball were for once just about the best kept secret ever. We heard a few correct guesses as to her majesty, Evelyn Weston who made a lovely queen in her beautifully styled gown, her blazing mantle blending perfectly with the daisy hue backdrop. But no one, and we mean no one except himself and three committee members knew Bob Kemery was to be king. Incidentally Bob was very pretty too and wore his crown in truly regal style. The court entered, dipped and bowed on their round of the gym, courtseyed gracefully before the double throne without one hitch—partly due to coaching of veteran 'handler' Red Hamilton.

The audience was sizeable despite the chill outside. A few seen admiring fabulous decorations carrying out the theme, Aurora Goddess of the Dawn, included Louise Lynch, Jane and Brewster Mallory, Fanny and Leona Marguez, Beale and Jimmy DaBlanc, the Lee Seals, who hosted a cocktail party between the ball and king's fete at the Yacht Club, the Jimmy Trevino's—who entertained after the Yacht Club affair; Jenny and Frank Trupian, Gertrude and Larry Sauer, Kitty Mallory, Mrs. O. W. Dalph, Marguerite Kemery and Dot Russell (all of whom watched their spouses participate) Vicki and Andy Becker, Phyl and Jimmy Lagasse, Dot and Merlin Martell—and on and on—a complete list would more than fill the column!

Celebrating anniversaries will be Earline and Roy Ruhr—their eighth is today, Feb. 28, and Mabel and Tony Monti, who will observe six years of wedded bliss Saturday, March 2. We would mention the fact that we too have an anniversary on that date, but have to admit that the better half insists upon being told of all news verbally and seldom if ever reads our ramblings. That's the height of something or other!

March 17 is the date selected by Our Lady of the Gulf School Parents Club for their first comic fashion show. This should be a riot as both male and female members of the group will model the latest in un-fashionable attire. It begins at 8 p.m. in St. Joseph Academy gym.

Another benefit coming up will be a spaghetti dinner beginning at 11 a.m., Sunday at Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center. Funds will be used to continue bus service from Pearlington, Lakeshore, Clermont and Waveland to Catholic schools in the Bay.

Mrs. C. L. Hutchinson was allowed to return home from Hancock General Hospital where she had been a patient since last Saturday. Hope she's feeling much better.

Nona Zimmerman is at present just about the busiest lady in Waveland. She's handling the mail assisted only by daughter-in-law, Beverly. (Postmaster Thelma Landry entered the local hospital early Monday and Gladys Noonan is vacationing in St. Louis.

On the sports front

We have it on good authority—no fact just about the best, like Lang, that the big trout most definitely are NOT biting.

Suppose we should send Comdr. Ray Shores something wrapped in pink ribbon—he's taking on the responsibilities of parenthood next week. He's to be busy rearing a tiny French poodle—we're trying to come up with an appropriate name for the wee canine but at the moment, Bon Bon is the best we can produce.

Pat Olson and three and one-half friends were met in New Orleans Friday by her father, Dacre Bourgouls—they flew in from Abilene, Texas, Pat and the children will spend a few weeks here, then drive to San Francisco, travel to Japan by boat and join Rick and on a four-year tour of duty in that oriental country. Each of her children have been born in a different state and the latest is scheduled to arrive six weeks after she reaches her destination. Claire and Otto Bourgouls' third son arrived a few days before he was expected—Sunday and papa Otto happened to be in Daytona Beach, Fla., where he, Bubbsie Solier, Al Noonan and Joe Bourgouls had gone to attend auto races.

Dianne (Mrs. Gary) Karl and Joyce (Mrs. Donald) Landry may be added to the list of current boogie knitters.

ISN'T SHE CUTE? -

Other prizes went to Harold Soucier, half and half, best man; and Mrs. J. C. Kosmann and Mrs. Russell Elliott, hobos, best couple.

Andre Arceneux passed on a bit of news which backs up our constant contention that one can purchase anything one needs right here in Hancock County. Arceneux Super Service has just filled an order for four tires size 5-20-10 which are destined to cover a distance of 5,100 miles before ever being put on a car. The tires will travel to San Francisco via Railway Express then to Honolulu, Hawaii, by ship to Chester Caldwell to be used on his English Morris automobile. He had tried in vain to buy the tires on the island—the order was delivered to the local firm by a recent visitor to the land of lots and loaves.

Late Yule fete

Employees of the Boy Post-office had a ball at their annual Christmas party which was held at Roy's last Thursday night—that is everyone but Eddie Marquez who had to be bright eyed and busy tailed as he was the only one who had to work the following day—George Washington's birthday.

We'll send joint hope you're feeling better wishes to Lawrence Jacob, Eddie Engelhorn and Wilfred Hayden—all have been plagued with high blood pressure.

Before we drop the subject of hospitals and illness we'll mention the Mrs. R. Diebold has returned to her Chatter Drive home after spending two weeks in Hancock General—she's feeling fine but just had to let us know that she truly appreciated the wonderful treatment given her by the entire hospital staff.

Cookie cooks

For years now one of the major sources of income for our Girl Scouts has been through the sale of cookies as they are now doing. Such methods of raising needed funds have real psychological advantages. Those seeking the funds contribute at least some of their time and effort and the purchaser receives something of genuine value—we prefer the short-bread type of cookie.

During the course of time the scouts have made one major change in their procedure which we regret. Now the purchaser receives store-made cookies instead of those made by the scouts themselves. These undoubtedly have the advantage of more consistency, but has at least three disadvantages.

The scouts are not really giving of themselves as much as they did in the past when they worked as the manufacturer as well as salesman for the project while less money is realized by their organization.

To cap it all off, the earlier system gave our young ladies an opportunity to practice the art of cookie making, whether plain sugar cookies, oatmeal or a fancier version, while giving some public evidence to the eligible males of the gastronomic prowess of possible brides-to-be.

Secret meet

Beat 4 went along with the members from the other three rural beats.

Hubbard's colleagues immediately took issue with him and accused him of wanting to restrict. Usually reliable sources said Hubbard suggested Bay St. Louis and Waveland wanted to control the county, whereupon Hubbard replied Beat 5 paid 67 per cent of the taxes, adding that as long as he had been in office he had tried to consider the county as large. Another supervisor suggested Beat 5 would "get nothing" if Hubbard did not go along and make the vote unanimous.

Question was raised as to whether any formal request had ever been made to the board for redistricting and it was finally recalled that the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce urged such action at the supervisors' meeting Feb. 12, 1962, but a motion to carry it out by the late Charles A. Russo, Jr., of Beat 1 failed to get a second.

The NASA delegation earlier asked the board to consider providing the necessary surveillance for MTO under a contract with the federal government. The matter first was brought up informally at last week's meeting when all but supervisors, Sheriff Gerald V. Price, State Rep. Clarence M. Ladner and the Echo reporter were excluded.

This Monday the press was also excluded as the NASA delegation and the supervisors went into the details of such an arrangement as it appeared a re-arrangement of a local and private bill through the legislature might be necessary to re-create the old county patrol to carve the purpose.

Supreme Court in a related field asserting the need to show positive rights, that they are and the right to which one is entitled should the rights be abridged. Only the law on redistricting requires the unanimous vote of the board, he continued.

In his reply Blass charged that the master from two of the election commissioners "was the most cooperative answer I ever saw filed to a bill of complaint" and insisted that other views should be made known to the court. He charged Sisson objected to the supervisors or anyone entering the case on one side when he (Sisson) welcomed support of his. Sisson replied that the action was brought as a taxpayer's suit.

Chancellor Heves ruled that since this was a case of first impression (without precedent), he welcomed all information and allowed the board of supervisors to enter as amici curiae, but only as such.

Gross unfairness to the rest of the county by populous Bay St. Louis and Waveland was then advanced by Gen. who contended redistricting at this time was not humane treatment to the people who are losing their homes and property with the NASA installation. He contended the full picture was not presented as to road taxes and the share the two municipalities get. Beat 5, he argued, enjoys the Courthouse without having to travel a long distance to it, as well as the hospital "run by the taxpayers of the county."

He indicated the south entrance to the test site will be in the vicinity of the present 43 and indicated it would be at least four lanes to handle about 1,500 cars an hour at peak periods. A parallel lane to the existing road has been thought of, he said. Wardlaw added there was no chance of getting NASA to help four-lane U. S. 90 all the way to the Louisiana state line.

Under consideration was a plan whereby each supervisor would nominate a given number of men from his beat for appointment to the county patrol. Authority for purchase of necessary vehicles also came under study as well as whether the arrangements should be handled through the sheriff's office.

for the complainants by failure to redistrict.

The requirement for 51 per cent of all qualified voters in a county to vote in a special election in favor of redistricting in order to secure it makes that remedy impractical, Sisson noted. The taxpayers, he declared, were challenging the present apportionment.

Blass in his concluding argument contended that plain and adequate remedy existed in the courts at law.

More than a dozen taxpayers joined the original complainants in the case during the day, R. G. Hubbard of Waveland, Beat 5 member of the board of supervisors, being the first to sign. Among others were Wilson W. Webb, county Republican chairman; Joseph V. Colson, county Democratic executive committee chairman and chairman of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission; S. J. Ingram, for many years superintendent of Bay St. Louis schools, and K. W. Pepperdine, hospital board trustee who is active in a host of civic affairs.

Hospital seems to be the word of the week in the north county. Get well wishes to the following and to anyone feeling the least bit under the weather: Mrs. George Curet (in Baton Rouge hospital), Edna Moran who is in the Picayune hospital, Nora Cameron in Gulfport Memorial, Mrs. Joe Rattle and Salvadore Cuevas both in Hancock General.

Mrs. Nola Cameron is back in Kiln after visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews and their three sons in New Jersey.

Mrs. Effie Mazarakis was in Pass Christian to view the Mardi Gras parade on Sunday, also Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dale Sills, Renny Randall and Berlin Ladner.

Two bus loads of Hancock North Central rooters left the school Wednesday evening on their way to Laurel for the District A-AA tourney in which the Hawks were to play Hattiesburg. Students sat together at the game as a pep squad and yelled their lungs out. But even with this moral support the mighty Hawks fell to a mightier Hattiesburg. The Hawks' feathers were ruffled 25 points and on the way home the pep squad weren't quite so "peppy".

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Necaize were in Gulfport Hospital last week walking up and down with their son-in-law Teddy Morrel waiting for a seven pound, 12 ounce boy named Jeffery Joseph. Teddy is still alive, but needed new shoes.

Hancock North Central students saw last week "Snakes of the World" as a traveling show halted at school. It was interesting. Nothing we haven't seen before, but it is helpful to know how to treat a cobra bite with the large number of cobras we have in the area. Peggy and Joe Cooley of Gretna, La., were guests last weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Shell Necaize of Kiln.

Last week was Valentine's Day and as usual the traditional Valentines to sweetheart and friends were given out. Understand Oticia Ladner went about it in a big way by giving 7-foot Valentines to best friends Linda Stewart and Shirley Shaw.

Karleen Cuevas was hostess of the Home Ec Valentine party last week.

A spelling program for the HNC High School students began last week. The words are every day ones which most of us frequently misspell. They are given out during activity period. Student will be graded and grades posted on report cards. It is a good idea, one of many which the new administration of J. D. Penton has introduced.

Top soil is to be hauled Saturday by members of the Hawks football team to help get their field in shape for the coming year.

Don and Rita Haas of Houma, La., were guests of Mrs. Melva Haas of Kiln. Donnie and Debbie Haas also visited Grandma.

Margie and Eric Larsen were in Laurel last week for the Hawk-Hattiesburg game.

Jeanie Gatewood, Joe Vernon Haas, and Mrs. Carry Gatewood were in Florida last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gatewood at Ft. Walton Beach.

A birthday party for Chester Triviro of Kiln was held last week at the home of daughter Betty and son-in-law Teddy Smith in Picayune.

Diane and Linda Bilbo of Picayune were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bilbo of Kiln over the weekend.

Mrs. Alcide Garriga celebrated her birthday Sunday after-

Sterling Staff

Near the center of the City of Gulfport on U.S. Highway 90, there stands the bronze likeness of Captain Joseph T. Jones, looking out to the sea.

As the founder and godfather of Gulfport, builder of its pier and port and the Gulf & Ship Island Railroad, Captain Jones was Mississippi's first benefactor and industrialist.

Born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1842, a Union soldier in the Civil War, pioneer in the discovery and development of oil fields in Pennsylvania, he came to Pass Christian for his health in 1894, under doctor's orders to retire from active business.

But this restless builder did not rest. He bought the Gulf & Ship Island Company, an unfinished railroad in receivership. He was soon financing sawmills, building resort hotels, erecting electric generating plants with interurban lines, and constructing bank and office buildings. He built a yacht harbor and one of the nation's first golf courses. He exported virgin long-leaf pine to the markets of the world.

Captain Jones was the personification of business honesty and he put the indelible stamp of character on a city and a community. He was a man of vision, energy and integrity. He gave the Mississippi Gulf Coast its first big financial boost and stimulated its high hopes with his faith in its future.

Rugged individualist, self-disciplined, a believer in thrift and in a divinity that shapes our ends, this patriotic and beloved Yankee from Pennsylvania and New York was the first outsider to discover the latent wealth of this promising Gulf Coast country. As this area now comes so richly into its own, it is well to give recognition to a pioneering capitalist who laid the foundation for much of the prosperity we enjoy today.

Would we not do well to emulate the sterling qualities so pronounced in this adopted Mississippian, for Captain Joseph T. Jones was of the stuff that made America!

Bay boxers win six from Houma

Bay St. Louis boxers returned to action Saturday night in good form, taking six of 10 bouts from Houma, La., there.

Although most of the upper-weight Bay boys were defeated, all boxers from this area below 100 pounds were victorious. Phil Colson 55 lbs., Dennis Geoffrey 75 lbs., Lester Dougherty 75 lbs., Orville Ferrell 90 lbs., Johnny Farve 110 lbs., and Back Marquar 150 lbs., posted victories on decisions.

Also representing the local boxing club were Jordan Bradford, T. J. Payard, Emilio Bourgeois, and Donald Marquar, losers on judges' decisions.

Harvey Mitchell, 135 lbs., captured the South Louisiana Golden Gloves Tournament novice lightweight championship Jan. 26. Two other "Back Price" trained boys, Frank Battistoni and Donald Marquar, were runners-up in the affair.

Local boxers were unable to advance past the South Mississippi Golden Gloves finals. Johnny Farve and Frank Battistoni were runners-up in their respective classes, Battistoni losing a loudly-boosed decision.

Other Bay boxers taking part were Roddy Henley, T. J. Foyard, and Harvey Mitchell, and all lost earlier in the tournament.

There were numerous colorful costumes at the Dentzons' ball but just about everyone agreed that had a prize been awarded for the most original, Dr. Wesley McFarland's octopus get-up would have won hands down.

Bowling Hub city 5 dumps Hawks

Hancock North Central's hopes for a state championship were quickly and most assuredly ended Wednesday night at Laurel in South Mississippi A-AA boys first-round play when the Big Eight champion Hattiesburg Tigers clipped the Hawks 71-46.

The game was much closer than the score indicates, as only in the last quarter did the Tigers pull away to a comfortable margin. In the last seconds, the Hattiesburg crew poured on the steam.

The score see-sawed back and forth in the first half. The clubs ended the opening period deadlocked 14-14 and the Tigers were on top 26-24 at the half.

Late in the third stanza Hattiesburg began to build up a lead and took a 45-36 advantage into the fourth period which saw the winners outscore the Hancock Countians 26-10.

Berlin Ladner, a sensational performer in the previous week's District 8 A-AA Tournament at Gulfport, led the Hawks in scoring once again with 14 points but only guard Richard Cuevas, totaling 12, joined him in two digits. Starting center Lionel Hoda was held to three points, one of his lowest outputs of the season.

The other District 8 entrant, Gulfport, was also eliminated in first night play, losing a 65-49 upset to Meridian. Jackson Central, oft-beaten during the regular season, won the tournament, Magee finished second, Hattiesburg third, and Meridian fourth, to enter this week's State A-AA boys tournament.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Flocks of tiny birds obviously too frail to withstand the force of the wind, making suicidal swoops at passing cars; two young ladies munching candy completely ignoring the hungry leaps of two good sized dogs as each morsel popped into their mouths. Carnival floats showing glowing results of many hours of hard labor. . .

as visitors Monday, Dixie Ogden of the human Ogden's (Mrs. Hillare to be specific) and her well known poodle called Mazzie—short for Mairzy d'oats—they gifted the ailing one with a can of dog food, which just happens to be her favorite delicacy.
